Jill Bayers Hotchkiss

Jill Hotchkiss

When I lived and worked in Colorado in the 1980s, Dr. Temple Grandin was a new speaker on the cattle convention circuit. I would hear her speak several times a year. She always fascinated and shocked the crowd, not necessarily with the content of her message, but more so with the delivery. I remember on a couple of occasions, some wise acre in the crowd who was intent to prove his superiority during the Q&A session, would be quickly cut down to size by Dr. Grandin with a quick one-liner which could not be refuted! To say she got everyone's

In my over 20 years as either editor or co-editor of the Montana Hereford News and Hereford America, I have written about many subjects in the Hereford industry. I have talked about flying to sales, carcass data, AHA and people, and problems in the industry, but this time, I am going to talk about a different subject and a subject that I have not previously covered in my column.

My subject this month is Tribute to Women. The new CEO of General Motors, Mary Barra, is a good example of how far women have come into what was once called a "Guy Industry." Though she is facing some

Sweet Traditions Meet the Future of the Hereford Breed in Pennsylvania

By Maddee Moore

The smell of fresh shavings covered by the smoke from the firing muskets opened the 2014 Junior National Hereford Expo (JNHE). Opening ceremonies were held in the Equine Arena of the Pennsylvania Farm Show Complex on July 7, 2014. Rich American history came to life for the NJHE exhibitors and supporters with an action driven Civil War reenactment. This year's NJHE was held July 5-12 in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania and was graciously hosted by six of the northeastern states. Those states included: Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

The action following opening ceremonies did not stop, as 610 members of the National Junior Hereford Association (NJHA) exhibitors, which hailed from 24 states, showed 1,128 head throughout the week. The 24 skill-based contests continue grow in variety with the addition of the individual sales contest.

"Participating in the new individual sales contest was a great experience that allows juniors to be placed in a real sales situation where they not only must know their

Grandin on Management and Facilities – The "Magic" Combination for Cattle Handling

By Heather Hamilton-Maude

"Facilities are only half the equation. The other half is the behavior and management side of livestock handling. Too often people want the magic thing that will solve all their problems rather than looking at management," began renowned livestock handler Temple Grandin during her presentation in Rapid City, SD on July 1.

Grandin went on to discuss several factors from both the facility and management perspectives that can impact livestock handling, and be improved upon in practically every situation.

"A big concern I have in genetic selection is we're just going crazy — we have genomic EPDs and we can analyze data. Now you have power tools to make genetic selections more quickly, but you have to be careful with power tools because you can cut your hand off a lot faster with a circular saw than with a hand saw," noted Grandin.

The biggest issue she has seen in recent years as a result of an increase in genetic Grandin said the real secret to humane livestock handling is to prevent an issue from arising. Staying calm, not yelling or making sudden movements will result in cattle staying calm and working better.

selection data is a reduction in phenotypic appraisal of cattle, resulting in an upswing of foot and leg problems.

"Some say we don't have to visually

1207 is a bull with excellent length, thickness, style, pigment and maternal. His first calf crop was very well received. His daughters look like they will make fantastic cows, as they should, being out of the $60,000 6054S cow whose sons have sold for a $30,000 average as well as being the mother of Holden's 0132X and 2181Z herd sires. 1207 also has the 1088L cow, right up front in his pedigree. Byron's Editorial...(continued from page 1)*

very critical times at the present, at General Motors, I think the most of the experts believe that she can handle it.

Over 45% of our executives of major corporations in the United States today are women and a big share of the big corporations in the world are now headed by lady chief executives.

Our state of Montana now has a woman Lt. Governor, not our first, but a very definite milestone. This woman grew up here, in our little town of Twin Bridges, a town of 400 people. She came from a family of small means, and worked each day at our one restaurant as a waitress, to save money for college. She was also a very hard working student in high school.

My wife Pauline and I were honored to have her as our server for several years when we went out to dinner. She worked her way through college, married, became a teacher, and later as head of our University system, then on to be Lt. Governor. A fine young woman who knew how to work, was dedicated, and relentless in her goal. Her name is Angela McLean.

This is a historic changing of times for women in America and in a big portion of the free world. We are seeing and have seen leaders in Great Britain, England, Germany and Israel that were powerful women leaders, and it would be hard to exclude Queen Elizabeth who has so much effect on the British Empire.

In the Hereford realm we have so many women that have had a big effect on our leadership in the industry. This includes mothers, daughters, including Jill and Kathy Bayers, (Kathy is a key account manager at a major U.S. corporation, FMC), daughter in laws, (we have one, MaryAnn, a great wife and mother, of our granddaughter, and grandson, married to son, Rich. She is also a former school teacher and library assistant. She and Rich owned and operated Back Country Spraying.); sisters, granddaughters, wives, girlfriends and important helpers, some who have come from other parts of the world who are now helping cattle operations, managing or owning a ranch. We can look at our own Hereford America editor, Jill Bayers Hotchkiss, as one of the good examples. Jill has been editor of a major cattle publication for probably 20 years now and in the livestock publication industry for over 35 years; the second woman editor of Western Livestock Journal. The Hereford World publication editor is Angie Stump Denton and we have a member of the board of directors of the AHA, in a special lady by the name of Terri Barber, who could well become president of the AHA during her tour on the board. There are several other women editors of livestock publications in the U.S. at this time.

We have, at the present, and have had in the past, several state association lady presidents, including our own state of Montana where Della Ehlke served as state president.

Most of the wives of Hereford breeders are very involved in the cattle business and they do a great amount of the work, physically, and in the offices, and making homes for their families. We also have to give tribute to the women in the industry that do the AI'ing, feed and show the cattle, take pictures, handle the videoing and telemarketing.

We haven't had any nationally recognized auctioneers but many years ago I tried to hire a lady auctioneer to help with one of our sales. She didn't feel like she was ready for that at the time, but we now have many young ladies breaking into auctioneering field, and one of these days soon we will have a lady auctioneer at a major sale.

The Hereford women groups have also been very active nationally in both the horned and polled breeds and recently they have merged into one group. Hereford women are very active in most states. For years, Montana had a very active group who supported all activities of show, sales, conventions, and field days. It was very unfortunate that as our older group of supporters gave way, our younger group had different priorities such as young kids, and outside jobs, and that seemed to lead to a somewhat less active group over the next few years. Through all the years in my life where production sales were held, in most cases, the women in the family served lunch at the sales, besides all of their other tasks. Even the sales that are held today, that are catered, the women in the operation plan the food and manage the event.

My wife Pauline, was a city girl when I married her and never really got into the cattle work, but liked the cattle and the life style. She was named Hereford Woman of the Year in Montana in 1976 for her involvement in the industry. She provided music at our church for 40 years as well as a community chorale. Pauline was a wonderful mother and a great supporter. For 30 years she cooked for the summer ranch crew, which at times numbered a dozen.

We were audited by the IRS one year and the agent came to the ranch to go over things. One thing on his list was the food bill. I said to him, "Why don't you have lunch with us and we can talk more later." The agent thought that was great, so he sat down at the big table with 14 other ranch helpers, including Pauline and I. Pauline had made a huge plate of mashed potatoes to go with the beef, and they were passed around the table and all of the young helpers took a helping. The agent was next to last, just before me, and when the plate got to him, it was EMPTY! Pauline had more ready, but after lunch the agent said, "I guess I

75 years of successfully breeding Herefords.

In those years I made many mistakes and learned some hard earned lessons. When I started, the country and economy was trying to recover from the "GREAT DEPRESSION". Many operations were financially broke. Banks were very careful with their loans if they were still in business. Ranchers did not dare make any mistakes. The Herefords varied quite a bit in size, but were fast getting bigger and heavier, so as to have something to sell. Along came World War II caused by a great deal of dissatisfaction among the people and a few greedy leaders wanting to steal value and territory. This was a time when the words "vultures" and "leeches" were heard quite often. After the war, the country had big Herefords. No breeder's Herefords really stood glaringly out. So, to gather attention, one breeder started breeding the "COMPREST" line with the promotion of earlier maturing, less feed and interest etc. etc. The academics and many breeders followed this line of thought. Other breeds in America were affected too. This was a FAD. This ended up with the Hereford breed wreck. I had been breeding Herefords about thirteen or fourteen years and doing everything "RIGHT". I picked up the good parts of my herd and decided to do my own thinking. After all, I had lost quite a bit of value. Airplane travel was getting more prevalent and the academics were traveling and brought back the idea of raising continental breeds. This took care of dwarfism but did bring in a lot of beef raising problems. Europeans eat very little beef, do very little open grazing, cattle are mostly raised and locked in a barn, have calving problems and on and on. Academics promoted multi colored cattle which caused no uniformity for the markets. This got to be a new FAD. I kept breeding Herefords for uniformity, beefiness, weight, and efficiency, in an attractive package. Along came the blacks that brought more uniformity in color and quality. Black is a fad. About this time our feeders topped the entire state of Nebraska for our weight of feeders. They continue to have good demand and sell well. And we continue to improve our registered cattle for sale. We do our own thinking and use our experience but with an open mind. We run a lot of Herefords for the number of people involved.

will drop the food issue!"

In our years of marketing we had 50 annual production sales. Pauline was here to help for 25 of them. She cooked and helped serve them, for some years as many as 800 people. She also organized the after sale function which was always held in our home. She was a great hostess. Ten years ago Pauline was stricken with Alzheimer's disease and for five years I took care of her at home. Five years ago she was moved to an Alzheimer's care unit, in a nearby city, where she still resides. She cannot walk, doesn't talk much, and must be fed each meal. Hospice was called a year ago, but like a good ranch wife she still hangs on to life, the only thing she can still relate to is her music, which we play regularly for her. She hangs in there like she did with little frozen calves that came out of the blizzards and ended up in our kitchen for warmth and care. Only with her problem, there is no saving, it is just a matter of time. She is typical of the great ranch wives who dedicated their lives to family and to the cattle business.

A few years ago when Pauline was struggling, a customer of ours who had just sold their ranch, came to our house and said she and her husband had moved to town, and she missed working with cattle, and being on the ranch, and would we have any work for her. I immediately hired her. Her husband is a famous sculptor, and wanted to keep working in that field. He has done work for Disney, and several pieces in various cities, including the airport at Sioux Falls, of Joe Foss, WW II hero and former Governor of South Dakota. Lynn has helped me now for five years, doing every kind of ranch work needed, cattle records and work with Hereford America. Another example of a very, talented, dedicated woman. We have so many great ones in this industry, similar to the ones I have mentioned. I am sorry that I cannot mention all of you here. You are a wonderful group!

You guys listen up. Take your favorite lady some flowers once in a while, take her to dinner (not just when you are going to a bull sale) make her feel that these thoughts are just for her. As the saying goes, "Smell the roses" once in a while. If you lose her, you will not believe how your world will change!

This is my tribute to all the great women in our industry.

It was clear then that this woman lived in another world, and content to do so, but had the remarkable ability to get inside the mind of a cow. She has uncanny wisdom when it comes to cattle and cattle handling and is able to communicate this to ranchers in terms we understand, rather than completely scientific terms.

I marvelled then as I do now, at her abilities, insight and wisdom.

For those of you who are not familiar with Dr. Temple Grandin she is a world renowned livestock behaviorist, scientist, teacher, writer and designer of livestock handling equipment. When you see a circular tub, curved crowding pen or cattle handling equipment it was likely designed by her.

She is also an expert in the field of autism because she is considered a high-functioning autistic. Not only is she brilliant, she sees the world in pictures and somehow is able to communicate with cattle. What a unique individual! If you ever have the opportunity to hear her speak, do it. In this issue we have an article on Grandin written by Heather Hamilton Maude. It's really interesting. Be sure to read it and have your kids read it or watch her videos. I think if young people would study Grandin's research on cattle behavior it would make their life in the cattle business a lot easier. Quiet handling of cattle with no yelling or screaming makes all the difference in the world. Not only do her teachings and practices apply to cattle handling but they also affect the outcome of the animal in terms of weight gain, fertility and overall health of the animal and therefore profitability for the producer.

Her official bio states the following: "Temple Grandin is one of the world's most accomplished and well-known adults with autism. She is a professor at Colorado State University and the author of several best-selling books, which have sold more than a million copies. The HBO movie based on her life, starring Claire Danes, received seven Emmy Awards.

Here is a humorous comment made by Grandin at a presentation on The Autistic Brain: "If we got rid of all the genetics that make autism we wouldn't have any computers. We wouldn't even have electricity!" This is the kind of blunt, yet interesting, comment Grandin throws out to her audiences. To say they are kept in rapt attention is an understatement. You can imagine how she handles a crowd of ranchers. It is priceless!

But the autism that makes her brilliant also caused her a lot of problems, especially early in life.

When she was new on the speaking circuit back in the 1980s she had trouble looking at people and the crowd.

Social interaction was difficult. Her incredibly logical mind controlled her social behavior which made her appear different to the rest of us. When I see her today it is obvious, while she probably hasn't overcome this she has at least "managed" many of these issues. But with those things aside, this incredibly smart woman really has overcome a lot and today is in a league of her own in several highly specialized fields.

One of the fascinating comments she made in her Rapid City speech, which I completely agree with, addresses the increase of genetic selection based on EPDs, not phenotypic (how the animal looks) traits and some of the associated problems this might cause.

We have seen this coming over the last several years. With the great technical tools of EPDs, genetic testing, rapid proliferation of livestock reproduction through A.I. and E.T., videos, online sales and cell phones, more and more producers are buying cattle without even seeing them. This is the wave of the present and the future and these are fabulous selection tools and methods. Well, don't forget they need to have good feet and legs so they can walk! Those of us who grew up in mountainous, rocky or "big" country had this drilled into our heads at an early age and it still holds true.

With these new selection tools, hopefully the videos you are looking at and the person you are talking to on the other end of the phone at a sale are looking at this too.

Read her assessments and think about it. And be sure to look her up on the internet or go to a speech. You will be hooked.

Along with numerous books on livestock behavior and handling as well as autism and social behavior, she has a newly released book, "Temple Grandin: The Autistic Brain."

Grandin...

appraise cattle, but we still need to do that. Cattle need to walk, and if someone said 10-20 years ago that we were going to get conformation lameness problems in cattle I would have said bull, but it's happening. Recently in a pen of all natural cattle, 10 percent were coming off the truck lame after a nice, one-hour ride to the packing plant. They came out of a nice, dry lot — it wasn't footrot, it was a conformation issue. Be careful with those things," she stated.

Single-trait selection is another issue within management that results in bigger-picture problems according to Grandin, with docility being among the most concerning.

"Selecting for temperament is a good thing, but when we go overboard we get into trouble and become worried about losing traits like mothering and foraging ability," she stated. "Let's look at the history of a breed, what are Salers for? They were originally a dairy cow raised in France who could get out and forage on the really rough and rugged hills. They were in close association with people twice a day and weren't being exposed to much novelty, so we never saw their temperament. Their genetic difference is getting out and up hills. Flatlander cattle won't go up hills like a Saler will, and the Saler is a tough mama. This is where there are trade-offs. If you're dealing with wolves, the Saler will fight. The Holstein would just say the wolf can have her calf — she'll give it to him. The animal that might be the best animal to fight off wolves might be the worst animal in the feedyard — don't over-select for any single trait," she reiterated.

Grandin noted that an animal's genetic temperament will show itself the first time they encounter something new or novel. However, that isn't to say positive reinforcement can't go a long way in improving even a nervous animal's ability to handle something new.

"An animal is a sensory based thing that remembers things in pictures. A man on a horse is a different picture than a man on a four-wheeler or a man on the ground. You should train your animals to tolerate a certain amount of different things before they ever leave your ranch. If you work them on horseback and they meet their first person on foot you will have a huge flight zone — that's dangerous in small pens at a sale barn or feedyard," she explained.

Taking the time to make a new experience a positive one is a great way to ensure an animal has a positive picture locked in their mind, and will be easier to work in that scenario in the future continued Grandin.

"There is a lot of interest in taking your young heifers and acclimating them to the corral by walking them through the chute and then feeding them something nice.

"Also, no dogs in the corral! A dog will train your cattle to kick, or shoot like a rocket ship into the lead-up alley. If you

"Animal thinking is very specific. I've learned that a person on the ground may be safe, but if they've never seen a four wheeler they can throw a fit. They can be tame in one situation and horrible somewhere else." Temple Grandin on the fact that while new and novel situations will always be potential stress situation for livestock, exposing them to a variety of working methods and situations while on the ranch will reduce their likelihood of throwing a fit when experiencing something new for the first time.

own a Blue Heeler, he needs to be put in the house while you work cattle in the corral," she stated as prime examples of how to make first experiences more positive.

Not yelling or making sudden movements were also mentioned, and Grandin said if people feel like they're hearing the same ol' thing, they are. "I keep saying the same things because people are still not doing them," she noted.

Staying calm in the back pen, not overloading that pen, and using following behavior were other suggestions Grandin provided to help keep cattle relaxed all the way through the squeeze chute.

"Wait until the single-file alley is half empty, then bring the next group up and they go right in. If you bring them up when the alley is full, they will all turn around. A basic animal behavior principle is that cattle want to go back to where they came from, and bad timing just makes them want to go to where they came from more, to a previous safe place," Grand explained, adding that making a single-file alley long enough to hold more than two head will also aid in loading it via following behavior.

While proper management and facilities help, Grandin also noted that the animal's sensory memory is incredibly specific. Exposure to one situation in a positive fashion will not necessarily transfer to another.

"They can be tame in one situation and horrible somewhere else. People who hand feed or feed range cubes — those cows have a low flight zone when that's happening. It's the first time they see something novel, loud, and sudden that they show their genetics. However, animals that have never seen new things are more likely to become agitated at places like auctions, and that's even more important with genetically flighty animals," she commented on the fact that while not a "fix-all," exposure to different working methods, situations and items does generally help when novelty arises.

To determine how well a set of cattle, people and facilities works together in a low stress fashion, Grandin suggested recording handling measurements.

"You can only manage the things you measure. My idea with that is to get rid of the crazy. Five percent or less should vocalize in the chute and 10 percent or less should be moved with an electric prod. If you record that you can see if you're getting better or worse over time," explained Grandin, adding percentage of cattle that fall and the speed at which they exit the chute as additional points she suggested be measured.

Why take the time to measure? If the desire to improve handling and make each cattle working experience easier on the livestock and humans isn't enough, Grandin suggested looking at the bottom line.

"Research shows that animals that zoom out of the squeeze chute gain less weight, and so do those that throw a fit in the chute. Quiet cattle gain more weight. Research also shows that things like ac-climating heifers to handling situations will result in better conception rates. It's not complicated or unaffordable, and while things have gotten a lot better in the industry, we can still improve," she concluded.

Temple Grandin spoke on July 1 in Rapid City, South Dakota. Her presentation was hosted by South Dakota Farmers Union and South Dakota Extension.

"Get away from words if you want to get an understanding with animals. Animals think in pictures." Temple Grandin during her July 1 presentation in Rapid City, SD..

Lot 1 - C KLC R98 Lady Miles 4095 ET

Lot 2 - C KLC R98 Miss Miles 4100 ET

Lots 1 and 2 seem to surface toward the top of the list for most of our visitors. They have "cow" written all over them, while maintaining that showing eye appeal and look. Nearly red to the ground with lots of pigment, these females are long necked, deep sided, big ribbed, soft made and square hipped. Their dam, R98, is a full sister to R111. Sired by Miles McKee, these three are not only big time show heifer prospects but will be amazing breeding pieces in anyone's program.

product, but also how to converse with buyers,” said Dana Kerner, the 2014 individual sales contest intermediate division first place recipient. “I really enjoyed this contest and hope it will gain popularity in the future.” Nearly $20,000 in scholarships were given to deserving members of the NJHA over the course of the show. With the addition of two new awards and the continued legacy of many awards, the National Hereford Women and the Hereford Youth Foundation of America were excited with the increased interest in the scholarship programs.

The much-anticipated Sullivan Supply/Stock Show University showmanship contest was a superb exhibit of skill and finesse. Don and Skeeter Brumley of Orvada, Nev., were selected to sort the top senior showmen. The couple selected Sara Beanblossom, Bradford, Ohio, as champion senior showman and reserve went to Cole Moore, Madill, Okla. The intermediate champion was Victoria Chapman, Sulphur, Okla., and Scott Chachere, Dayton, Texas was reserve. Rhett Lowderman, Macomb, Ill., was selected as the champion

The 2014 NJHA Advisors and Herdsman of the Year exemplified the theme of this year's event as a Sweet Family Tradition. Andy and Betsy Beck, Bainbridge, Ind., were honored as the 2014 Advisors of the Year. The couple has served the junior and state association on multiple levels, and has been the state of Indiana's Junior Advisors since 2009. Following the announcement of the Advisors of the Year award, the Beck's stood ringside, watching the champion horned heifer drive begin. Their son, Cody Beck, was then announced as the 2014 Herdsman of the

Maybe Not Wall Street ... -But Really Good Herefords From the North Country

In our 97 years in the Hereford business we have sold over 20,000 head of purebred horned and polled Herefords into 38 states, Canada, Mexico, Hungary and Zimbabwe. We have sold 510 bulls to one customer. Our main emphasis through the years has been to sell good bulls to good commercial cattlemen in the mountainous country of Idaho, Wyoming and Montana. The cattle in these elevations can graze up to 10,000 feet so they must be strong and good footed. Our cattle have met these demands as proven by our years of longevity and the number of cattle that we have sold. Selling a few herd bulls is nice, when the occasion occurs, but our emphasis has been and will be selling top commercial bulls to the top cattlemen who raise the beef for this country.

We look forward to our new crop of calves this next spring by our basic herd bulls, which are pictured below. 61Z the son of Anchor 11X, which we own an interest in with Anchor Polled Herefords. Goggles, a son of About Time, Rambo, a two time Canadian Champion and Whitmore, of the Ashe early gestation calving family. And the great Canadian Bar Pipe Sire 39T. We have AI'd a select group of cows bred to Trust and Standard 68L Dom Lad 38T.

All of our bulls and heifers that were available in 2014 have been merchandised, but we will have a nice crop of 2014 calves available for fall 2014 and spring 2015 delivery.

This year was Beck's final year to exhibit at the JNHE.

As the week's events were winding down, the excitement throughout the barn did not stop until the final photo was taken of the newly crowned champions. Many new sweet family traditions were surely founded throughout the week, and many were left in the barn reminiscing about events, the historic highlights and future of the breed.

Last Roundup

Edwin D. Beery

Edwin D. Beery 74, of Vida, MT, eldest son of Margaret and Newell Beery passed into Eternity on March 27th, 2014 at the Billings Clinic from complications of a worn out heart. Eddy was born on Aug 25, 1939 in Wolf Point, MT. He lived and breathed the family farm and ranch from birth to death. Eddy graduated from Richey High School in 1957 and was always proud of being a Richey Royal. He kept in touch with many of his high school buddies and would look for any excuse to have a reunion. They usually discussed how good they were at playing basketball and what a good manager Eddy was and such a vital part of the team.

Eddy met the love of his life at the Richland County Fair in Sidney, and hired her to show cattle for him, thinking he might have a better chance of winning if he had a good looking gal showing his herefords. He married Joanne Eggen in Plentywood on October 17th 1964. Rarely would you see one without the other in life. Eddy and Joanne survived a life time of ups and downs which only made their union stronger. From their love and hard work, they raised 5 kids: Leanne, Lissa, Nita, Beth and Matt. Eddy became an entrepreneur at a young age. He and his siblings sold pop and hot dogs to interested spectators wanting to see the very first oil well in the area. He never really cared what others thought of him or what he was driving. He would rather struggle along, as materialistic things were not important. His wealth was based on his abundant friends and family and the strong relationships with each and every one of them. He was a neighbor to all and taught his kids the importance of always lending a hand. He spent his entire life raising cattle and was very passionate about the Hereford breed.

Every year, he would say "next year's calf crop will be better than this year's if we're doing anything right." It wouldn't bother him one bit to cut a bunch of bull calves out of new genetics saying "they gotta be a good steer before they can be a bull."

He was an early member of Total Performance Records and stood by breeding honest cattle. He was a true cowman with a strong passion for the beef industry. Eddy enjoyed work and valued people on their work ethic. He learned this from his parents and he passed this on to his own kids and grandkids. He always had work to do – no matter what the season was. Along with his family Eddy had a love for politics, education, the cattle industry, and healthcare. He never met a stranger and would visit with anyone anywhere. Eddy was named Hereford Man of the Year by the Montana Hereford Association and served as the Montana Hereford Association president. He was on the Vida School Board, was named Jaycee Farmer of the Year, was a member of the Lutheran Church of Richey and served on the church council for the Community Church in Vida. He was an advocate of the Yellowstone Boys and Girls Ranch and The Shriners Hospital. He was proud to step up and donate every chance he could. He was a Mason for 50 years, belonged to Eastern Star and was a Shriner. The local Masonic Lodges were dear to his heart. He believed in 4-H and was a youth member and then leader for many years. At the time of his death he was a 4-H advisor to his grandkids. They valued grandpas opinion and learned quick, if you had Grandpas approval, well, you had it made – no matter what anyone else said. He loved to watch Rodeo and the PBR with Joanne but rarely left his favorite recliner to go to these events. They were the best in the comfort of his own home on the TV. Joanne and Eddy worked hard to make Beery Land and Livestock a success. This family operation was his life.

If they weren't hauling beef to Jordan or Miles City, they were promoting the cattle and always offering advice to Matt. During his later years he spent time chasing his grandkids to their numerous activities as he was one of their biggest fans. Eddy acquired a new passion towards the end of his life and founded the Redwater Manor Senior and Assisted living Complex board. His vision will become a reality, and he will be proud. Eddy loved his family, Hereford cattle, his community and his friends. Neighbors in his community meant the world to Eddy. He always had time for coffee and a good visit.

He especially loved a good heated discussion over politics. Right or wrong – his intent was to keep all secure for the next generation. Eddy will be dearly missed by his family and community. Eddy was preceded in death by his parents Newell and Margaret, daughters Karlene at birth and Leanne at 37 years of age and his mother and father in law Joe and Kay Eggen of Plentywood. He is survived by his wife of 49 1/2 years, Joanne; Jerry Switzer, Shayna and Ryan of Wibaux; Lissa and Clint Volbrecht, Megan and Ellie of Richey; Nita and Ed Crockett, Courtney, Jim, Taylor, Mariah and his first great grandson Parker of Circle; Beth and Michael Conroy, Colton, McKinna, Calder, Kayanna and Maggie of Circle; Matt and Krista Beery, Leah and Ethan of the family farm of Vida. Two sisters: Elaine and Dale Rosaen of Lambert; Vesta and Dave Verschoot of Lambert; Two brothers: Nick and Barb Beery of Seely Lake and Joe and Janet Beery of Richey; Brother in law, Arvid and Linda Eggen and sister in law Linda and Ed Schackelford all of Plentywood, and many numerous nephews and nieces. Memorials can be made to Redwater Manor Senior and Assisted Living Complex, Richie Community Park or to the Yellowstone Boys and Girls Ranch of Billings, MT.

Seth J. McKay

Seth J. McKay, age 17, of Marysville, KS, passed away on Sunday, March 30, 2014, in a one car accident south of Marysville.

Born Jan. 23, 1997, in Washington, KS, Seth was the son of Grant and Linda McKay. He was a junior at Valley Heights High School, Blue Rapids.

Seth's passions in life were showing Herefords, playing golf, hunting and spending time with family and friends. He will be remembered for his contagious smile and his ability to make anyone laugh.

He was a member of the National Junior Hereford Association, National Junior Angus Association, and the Kansas and Nebraska Junior Hereford Associations. He also served as a Nebraska junior director. Seth was proud to exhibit a bred-and-owned class winner and reserve division champion heifer at the Junior National Hereford Expo (JNHE). Seth and his sister, Bailey, are the only exhibitors to have shown the champion and reserve heifers at both the Nebraska State Fair and Ak-Sar-Ben in the same year with the same heifers.

His involvement in the Hereford industry went beyond the show ring. He was a member of the champion junior team marketing team at the 2011 JNHE, the champion 3-on-3 basketball team at the 2013 JNHE and was the champion peewee judge and team at the 2005 JNHE.

Seth's true strength was getting the cattle ready. He was a mentor to many younger NJHA and 4-H members with their beef projects.

He was a member of Valley Heights and Franklin (Nebraska) FFA chapters and the Wide Awake, Busy Hands Happy Hearts and Young Guns 4-H clubs. In FFA he received second-place district beef placement proficiency and participated in many contests. He also attended the 2013 National FFA Convention. In 4-H he served on the Marshall County 4-H Council (2012-13), secretary of the Wide Awake 4-H Club (2013-14), and president and vice president of the Busy

Clark Thomas Stillahn

Clark Thomas Stillahn, 49, of Cheyenne passed from this world into the arms of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ, on March 30 in his home.

Born June 2, 1964, in Syracuse, Neb., to Arthur and Jeannette Stillahn, Clark was the youngest of four children. His family moved to Cheyenne in 1965.

He graduated from Cheyenne's East High in 1983 and attended Laramie County Community College. In 1986, Clark took a job with the state of Wyoming working in the Department of Motor Vehicles and continued to work for the state to the present, working as a commercial driver's license examiner for the Wyoming Department of Transportation.

Clark grew up in agriculture, working his family's ranch north of Cheyenne raising Hereford cattle and growing alfalfa hay. He continued ranching and farming while he worked for the state.

Clark loved to dance and attend his nieces' and nephews' sporting events and activities. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Cheyenne and was involved with the Wyoming Junior Hereford Association, the Wyoming Hereford Association and Future Farmers of America, as well as other organizations. Clark's smile will be truly missed by his many friends and family who loved him.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Arthur and Jeannette.

He is survived by his sister, Kathy Nutter (Joe); brothers, Gene (Cindy) and Jerry (Mary) Stillahn; nieces, Amy Stillahn and Stacia Nutter; and nephews, Christopher, Trey and Evan Stillahn.

Memorial donations can be made to High Plains FFA Chapter or St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Condolences can be made at www.schradercares.com.

Chloris Guth Zimmerman

Chloris Guth Zimmerman, age 80, of Wilsall, MT passed away peacefully on Friday, May 2, 2014 at Livingston Health and Rehabilitation Center.

Chloris was born October 13, 1933

the daughter of Henry and Angeline (Kuhns) Guth. She resided on the family ranch near Wilsall for her entire life. She graduated from Wilsall High School in 1951 and for awhile attended Eastern Montana College in Billings. On November 27, 1955 she married Charles "Bud" Zimmerman, Jr. and began ranching with him. Because the two ranches were right next to each other, she was able to continue helping with and later run her father's ranch.

Chloris loved 4-H and was a leader of the Wilsall Wranglers for 36 years. She was a member of the Montana Hereford Association, the Park-Gallatin Hereford Association and the Park-Gallatin Ladies' Auxiliary and insisted on raising Hereford cattle until the end. Chloris believed in the ranching way of life. During her 24 years of service on the Park County Planning Board, she worked to preserve those lands and that way of life. She belonged to the Daughters of the Nile, Wilsall Vets and Auxiliary and the Shields River Lutheran Church. She always loved to visit with friends. During the many years on the ranch she enjoyed cooking and baking, especially chocolate cake and entertaining the many relatives that came to visit in the summers.

Chloris is survived by her sons, Ned (Cindy) Zimmerman and Van (Christina Sharpe) Zimmerman, grandchildren, Grete (Andrew) Telander, Caitlin and Eric Zimmerman, great-grandchildren, Hazel and Vivian Telander and many beloved nieces and nephews other relatives and friends.

Chloris was preceded in death by her parents, Henry and Angeline Guth, husband, Bud Zimmerman, sisters, Evelyn Stoner and Elaine Tashjian.

Lisa Reimer Johnson

Lisa Johnson, age 49, of Huron, SD, died Tuesday, June 3, 2014, at her home.

She was born Lisa Marie Reimer, daughter of William C. and Mary Frances (Olinger) Reimer, on November 3, 1964, in Chamberlain, SD. She attended grade school in Chamberlain and Chamberlain High School 1980-1983; South Dakota State University 1983-1987 graduating with a double major in Ag Marketing and Ag Journalism.

Following graduation Lisa moved to Denver, CO, where she was employed by North American Limousin Association until 1989 when she moved to Silverthorne, CO, where she worked at Summit Co. Bank until 1989, then worked as the office manager of Colorado First Construction until 1995. Lisa then returned to Chamberlain and worked at Register Lakota Printing until 1997, when she moved to Huron. She started her own business, Cowmania Creations, in 1997 so she could stay at home with her children. In 2004, she sold Cowmania Creations, and then worked for Legend Seeds in De Smet, SD, from 2004 to 2005. She worked at Farm Service Agency in the Federal Building in Huron from 2006 until the present as an Administrative Specialist.

Lisa's many interests involved all of her children's activities including showing cattle, sheep, rodeo, wrestling, football, soccer, and volleyball. She had an unending zest for volunteerism as well as a love of gardening and fishing.

She was a member of 4-H for 11 years; FFA member; 1985 Miss South Dakota Stockgrower; SDSU Alpha Gamma Rho RhoMates, 4-H Leaders Association; Chair of Buchanan PTAO; Chair of Huron Wrestling Club; President of Tiger Roar; chaired U-Fit-It at SD State Fair; Holy Trinity Catholic Parish; taught

CCE at Holy Trinity; involved with SD Jr Simmental and SD Jr Hereford Associations.

Lisa is survived by her husband, Gary of Huron; 2 children, Courtney and Jeremiah; 3 siblings, Steve (Elaine) Reimer of Chamberlain, Janelle (Gerald) Bischoff of Huron, and Kathy (Pete) Torres of Atlanta, GA; her mother, Mary Frances Reimer of Chamberlain.

She was preceded in death by her father, William C. Reimer; paternal grandparents, Pete and Dora Reimer; and maternal grandparents, Joe and Clara Olinger.

Julia Ollerich

Julia Ollerich, 94 of Sioux Falls, died Wednesday, July 30, 2014 at Avera Prince of Peace, Sioux Falls, SD.

Julia Elizabeth Aylward was born at Harrisburg, SD on September 10, 1919, the daughter of Phillip and Kathryn (Devitt) Aylward. She grew up in this area graduating from Cathedral High School. She went on to earn her teaching certificate from Mount Marty College in Yankton.

Julia became an elementary school teacher and taught at the Dewey School three miles north of Tea in rural Lincoln County. On May 29, 1940 she was united in marriage to William Ollerich at the St. Magdalen's Catholic, Lennox. The couple lived on a farm north of Tea.

In 1961 they moved to their farm home west of Sioux Falls. Julia worked as a cook at the Sioux Falls Livestock Auction Co. from 1963 to 1966. From 1967 until 1970 she worked for Nelson Concessions and in 1971 became a cook at the Minor Seminary until retiring in 1994. William died on March 7, 1983.

Julia was an active and faithful member of St. Nicholas Catholic Church. She belonged to the Catholic Daughters for 35 years. She was deeply religious and was involved in Bible study and church group activities. Julia was an Avera McKennan Hospital volunteer for over 20 years. She traveled extensively to all 50 states and Europe. She had been a 4H leader and enjoyed her large gardens, canning and baking apple pies from their own apple trees-making sure all the apples were utilized. Julia was a gifted seamstress who sewed for her daughters and made wedding dresses and formals.

Because her parents had died at a young age, William and Julia raised Julia's younger brother, "Boz" and sister, Peggy. Besides her parents and husband, Julia was preceded in death by one daughter, June Ellen in 1965, two brothers: Vincent and Phillip "Boz", son-in-law, Roger Berg and daughter-in-law, Rita Ollerich. Grateful for having shared her life are her six children: Janet (Darrell) Timmerman, Tea, SD Joanne Berg, Fallon, NV, Jerald (Jean) Ollerich, and Jeffrey (special friend Sherrie) Ollerich both of Sioux Falls, Jerome Ollerich and James Ollerich both of Clearfield, SD; 14 grandchildren: LouAnn Gillette, Lee Timmerman, Larry Timmerman, Lynette Wold, Julianne Chaparro, Jacqueline Trease, Jessica Preister, Jenelle Ollerich, Jason Ollerich, Johanna Ream, Justin Ollerich, Traci Collison, Tyler Ollerich and Tamara Ollerich; 21 great-grandchildren: Anthony, Andrea, Eric, Ashley, Savanna, Gus, Rylea, Alexander, Benjamin, Bailey, Bella, Kaleb, Karson, Kensley, Meredith, Nathalie, Nicholas, William, John, Hadleigh and Burkley; sister, Peggy Kemp, Sioux Falls and sister-in-law, Ruth Aylward Pommer, Alexandria, SD, as well as other relatives and friends.
