As I write this our bull sale season is in full swing in the West and Plains states. With the volatility in the cattle market this year many breeders are concerned with production sale prices. Overall we have seen fairly good sales with average prices somewhere in the category of 2015's prices. Two-year-old bulls seem to be especially popular in the Dakotas the last two months, guessing that people think that's a better buy than a yearling. It is also felt that if all the bulls get sold, it is a good sale. Yes it is one of those kind of years. Still, there are quite a few

In the last issue of Hereford America I talked about the life and story of John DeLorean. It was amazing to me how many people remembered him and almost every one of them only remembered him because of the car industry. It was however, uniquely timed with the national TV announcement that the DeLoreans were to be again built in a factory in Texas and this coverage went on to say how unique the car was in the 1980s and produced by DeLorean.

Now for the rest of the story that involved a Hereford bull that DeLorean owned.

RC Dan Mischief 19 was born at the Descheemaeker Ranch near Billings, MT. Charlie took this outstanding bull to the Midland Test Center which was located in Billings, and was probably one of the premier bull sales in all of America at that time. Midland is still a viable test center located at Columbus, MT and operated by the McDonnell family, but it is now basically an Angus Sale.

This bull's pedigree was also very important to us because we had raised 12 of the 16 cattle represented in the fourth generation of his pedigree. To win the Midland Test Center Dan had a gain ratio of 135 and a yearling index ratio of 133. Dan went on to later become a Certified Carcass Sire under the American Hereford Association requirements. The steers and heifers tested under this program both recorded Choice grading, under the old system where carcasses were evaluated on the rail.

During the same period Descheemaeker won the Denver Carload show with a group of the Evan Mischief bred cattle. Dan Mischief went on to become the overall performance winner at the first Midland Test and was highly sought after by many herds in the Northwest. He was a bull that drew great interest in that sale and eventually sold to Pine Creek Ranch at Salmon, ID, which at that time was owned by Emmett Reese. Our ranch was the runner up bidder on the bull and only because we did not believe we could afford the price he brought at that time, so we had to let the bull go to Pine Creek.

Throughout the years I followed the bull closely and went to every Pine Creek sale where I saw the sons of Dan going to many purebred herds and also to many outstanding commercial herds. I repeatedly tried to buy an interest in Dan but Mr. Reese was not interested, I also tried buy semen but Mr. Reese was not interested in selling that either.

After several years of continued health problems and advancing age, Mr. Reese sold the ranch and the cattle to John DeLorean. Again, I tried to buy an interest in the bull, but it was just not for sale at that time either. However, later on, DeLorean's manager did allow me to buy a semen interest in the bull, with limited semen use, for the price of $25,000. The grand old bull was now starting to show his age and yet he still weighted about 2,600 hundred pounds in all of his grandeur. Soon after, the word came to me one day, that John DeLorean's automotive venture in Ireland had come to a halt and the whole DeLorean Empire was now in bankruptcy. I immediately called Pine Creek to get information on the cattle and the old Dan the bull. The person that answered said he was just the caretaker, all the crew were gone and all the cattle had been shipped somewhere for liquidation. It was unbelievable to me that this whole herd, and "my" bull, could just disappear under those circumstances.

Some six months later I went to a sale at the stockyards in Blackfoot, ID, and while I was at the sale another breeder asked me if I had seen the Hereford cows in the pen behind the sales barn. I said "no" to the fellow, but immediately I wanted to go and see what they were, and upon arriving at the pen I noticed that the cows that were remaining had the Pine Creek brand on them. So a friend of mine that was with me, who was a retired cattleman, by the name of Remi Monforton, and I went right into the pen to study the cattle.

After we had been through and analyzed a group of cows that were very thin, we saw back in the corner, laying down, a bull! As we got a little closer to the bull, I couldn't believe it, but it was Dan Mischief 19. We both tried to get the bull up, and finally after several times he did get up but was obviously feeling poorly. I went right back to the stockyards headquarters and asked about the Pine Creek cattle and the man in charge told me that all the cattle in the pen were in receivership and would be sold as soon as some legal paper work was done, and after a bit of harassing, he gave me the name of the bankruptcy judge handling the disposition of the cattle.

After repeated efforts I was told by the judge, that I could have the bull at what the auction barn thought was reasonable value for a slaughter bull. I went back to the yards in a few days and told them of the arrangement I made with the bankruptcy court, and they had given a value of what they thought the bull would bring. I paid them and said I would be there soon to transport Dan away. After about a month all was cleared for us to retrieve Dan and bring him back to our ranch which was about 250 miles to the north of where we had found him. He was somewhat difficult to get loaded because he was so weak, but he made the trip successfully to his new home.

Dan was put on a special feed ration and cared for in a pen where he could be out of our harsh winter weather. By the next spring, even though he was pretty old, he still had the desire to go out with the cows again, so we naturally bred him that year to about 15 cows. Dan seemed to live comfortably through part of the next winter, but one day in February Old Dan just laid down, went to sleep, and died. He was 15 years old at the time.

Now you know the rest of the story, RC Dan Mischief was rescued, and his great great granddaughters still roam the mountains of Idaho and Montana. The John DeLorean Empire faded away, but today some 40 years later, the DeLorean car is being built again.

breeders having incredible production sales regardless of these trends.

Vern Rausch of Rausch Herefords, Hoven, SD, is quite a numbers guy. He has kept track of the averages on 16 Hereford sales in their area for the last six years. It is amazing how much prices have improved since 2010. Of course last year was a banner year breaking all sorts of records. In Vern's comparison almost all of these sales' averages last year were double what they were in 2010. Furthermore, due to the expected price fluctuations and changes this year, averages are at about what they were in 2015 with several exceptions. His chart shows that last year's sale averages were up $1,457 and the ones that had been held this year were down $1,456. Their own sale average was within a few dollars of their 2015 sale average.

I thought this was really interesting information especially from an outfit that crunches the numbers on a lot of things including EPDs.

Seems like every year I start getting calls around the third week of January from people wondering what prices are doing. I think we all know they aren't going to be as high this year as they were last year for the majority of breeders. However, there are a few who have defied the odds. We will run as many sale reports as we have room for in this issue. I'm sure they will overlap into our next issue. You can always view averages on our website at:

www.herefordamerica.com

This is one of those years that if a person sells all the cattle in their sale you can call it a huge success. Hopefully it's not all gloom and doom and prices improve throughout the spring. We are all hoping for stronger feeder cattle prices too. It sure drives the whole equation for our registered sales. The entire stock market and oil price scenario has a great affect as well.

With all this said, there were some phenomenal Hereford sales in the western U.S. Hats off to these folks for bringing everything together for such hugely successful sales!

During the months of January and February, Marc and I are traveling different directions for the majority of time. We go to a lot of sales but don't hit all of them; we try to go to our advertisers' sales but there are only so many hours in a day.

March is fairly jam-packed as well. Our livestock video company, The Livestock Link, has really taken off and we are keeping our crew busy videoing and conducting video sales in a large area.

When I was growing up and working with our own sale cattle in the old round barn by Twin Bridges, I had no idea I would end up going to so many production sales other than our own. The important points of a production sale were ingrained at an early age to say the least! It certainly laid a foundation for the work I do today.

The importance of customer service, whether it be in selling advertising, selling food or selling bulls, can't be overstated.

I had a lengthy conversation about this with a friend who sells bulls by private treaty. We were comparing notes about what various breeders do or don't do to provide customer service to their bull customers.

Having grown up in an environment where it seemed that everything possible was done to provide excellent customer service, I was surprised at some of the stories my friend had. From what he was telling me it sounded like he did a lot of extra things for his customers including delivering bulls and providing replacements if something went awry.

Bull delivery was the first topic of discussion. You would think this is a basic premise in terms of selling bulls but I learned that in some areas of the country this isn't done. Really? I find that surprising. In my opinion the service of bull delivery, within an acceptable distance, would be an added selling point especially if your neighbor who is also selling bulls is not delivering! I know of several people in our area who give a "haul-your-own" discount and this seems to be popular. It's also a good sight to see a bunch of trailers at a sale when you pull in.

Suffice to say, exceptional customer service is worth its weight in gold. Why wouldn't you provide good service to your customers? I guess people have different definitions of customer service.

This is just the tip of the iceberg and it seems I've run out of time. More on this topic at a later date.

I am optimistic for the remainder of the Hereford sale season. As we go into March I am confident we will see strong demand for Herefords, especially in the female sector. If people are staying in the cattle business they will need bulls and replacement females. They may just not spend as freely as they did last year.

See you down the road!

— JBH

Robert Endecott

Robert Jesse Endecott, 71, of McAllister, MT, rode over the great divide on the family ranch on Feb. 19, 2016, after a courageous battle with cancer. He was born in Ashton, ID on Oct. 5, 1944 — the fifth of six children to Richard and Hilda Warsany Endecott. He grew up in the farming community of Squirrel, ID, where his dad was one of the last to switch from teams of horses to tractors. Bob cut his teeth on harness rings and as soon as he could walk, he headed for the horse corrals. Whenever he disappeared, his mom knew exactly where to find him. The love and respect for horses continued throughout his life.

He proudly served his country in the 716th Military Police Battalion. He spent one tour in Vietnam and was stationed in Saigon, at times providing security for General Westmoreland. After his release from the Army, he spent several years working for dude ranches in Gallatin Canyon. He started ranching in the Madison Valley in the early 1970s and never left.

He married Janet Goggins in 1978 and they worked with her family on the ranch. With their daughter Rachel, they raised good cattle and made good horses. Bob followed in his father's footsteps, feeding with teams of horses or mules until the mid-1990s. Some of his favorite times were spring brandings, shipping in the fall, and our big winter sledding parties.

Bob was active in the Ennis Rodeo Association for many years and helped put on the 4th of July rodeo. He harrowed the arena for several years with his team of mules, and got quite a kick out of the rodeo horses' reaction to his long-eared ladies.

Horse racing was a passion for Bob, not for the gambling aspect, but for the true love of the equine athlete. He enjoyed hitting the tracks at Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park in New Mexico when Rachel was attending graduate school at New Mexico State. He also enjoyed tuning in to the horse racing channels on TV the past few months. Bob was an incredibly talented leatherworker and horsehair hitcher. Many friends and family are proud owners of a Tails End Original.

Left here to miss him are his wife, Janet; daughter, Rachel; brothers, Boyd (Eula), Gerry (Rusty), and Jack (Pauline) Endecott; sisters, Sharon Davis and Wilma Miller; father- and mother-in-law, Bob and Cora Goggins; sister- and brothers-in-law, Betty, Bob (Terri), Jim (Shelly), and Pat (Michelle) Goggins; and many nieces and nephews.

We are confident that Bob now has a cavvy of good grey horses, moving cattle through stirrup-high grass.

A celebration of life is planned for the summer. Memorials may be made to Collegiate Stockgrowers at Montana State University, Madison Conservation District, Hospice of Bozeman Deaconess, or Madison Valley Medical Center.

James Carmichael Scholarship Winner

Calah Covey from Hamill, SD was selected as the recipient of the James "Bubby" Carmichael Memorial Scholarship which was presented during the Black Hills Stock Show banquet. James Carmichael passed away in 2007 and his family who ranches near Meadow, SD, created a scholarship to honor the memory of this wonderful man who had a great appreciation for livestock, especially Hereford cattle.

Calah Covey is a Senior at Winner High School and plans on attending South Dakota State University in the fall. She will pursue an Animal Science Degree with emphasis in reproduction. Calah would like to go into embryology while maintaining her Hereford herd.

Calah's love for Herefords started at the age of 7 when she received her first Hereford heifer. This got her started with her own small herd of Herefords. She is a former South Dakota Hereford Queen and has participated in many South Dakota Junior events including the SD Summer Spotlight, SD Junior Hereford Field Day and SD State Fair. She is also involved in FFA, 4-H and a number of community activities. She also attended the National PRIDE Convention (Program for Reaching Individuals Determined to Excel) through the American Junior Hereford Association.
